THE EDUCATION FOUNDATION, INC.
CALDWELL COUNTY

Inspired by a matchless passion to extend the realm of education and its importance, along with a commitment to community improvement, family, friends and colleagues of Connie Patterson Jenkins offer this scholarship to honor her life as a philanthropist and educator.

Mrs. Jenkins received her Bachelor's Degree from North Carolina Central University in Durham, North Carolina in 1973. Following her degree, she immediately began teaching in the Caldwell County School System. Her first teaching assignment was as a third-grade teacher at West Lenoir Elementary School. She soon moved on to teach Special Education at William Lenoir Middle School, a position which she held for over twenty years.

During her tenure, she represented Caldwell County as Teacher of the Year in 1991. Throughout her teaching career, Mrs. Jenkins was an active member of North Carolina Association of Educators (NCAE). A visionary, Mrs. Jenkins realized that students with special needs required praise for improvement, which is often overlooked. She developed numerous programs aimed at rewarding students who otherwise may have not been rewarded.

A member of St. Paul A.M.E. Church, Mrs. Jenkins served on the Stewardess Board, was a Missionary, member of the New Jerusalem Choir, Pastor's Aide, and Director of YPD (Young People's Division). As Director of YPD, Mrs. Jenkins' devotion to youth and positive influence inspired many students to improve grades and attitudes, elevate their community awareness and go to college.

The Connie Patterson Jenkins Scholarship is aimed at extending education and its importance. Mrs. Jenkins had a vision for society's youth that was unparalleled by many. Through this scholarship, her vision of education consciousness will be realized.
